

Do you guys REALLY recycle?

Yes we do. We REALLY do!

Environmentally responsible.

E&K has always supported and promoted the recycling of our empty pipet tip boxes. The Biotechnology industry generates a tremendous amount of waste and E&K is committed to help reduce the amount of plastic that goes into our landfills.

So what happens to the plastic boxes?

Used E&K pipet tip boxes are shipped to Lynx Recyclers right around the corner from the E&K Santa Clara warehouse. Once there, they are ground down into small pieces which are then melted and reformed into plastic pellets. These pellets are then sold as post consumer polypropylene and in turn manufactured into new, recycled plastic products.

"That Frisbee your playing with... yup, could've been a tip box."

Do you make money doing this?

No. E&K offers recycling as a value-added service to our customers and to the environment.

What products do you accept?

E&K will pick up or accept via UPS, any empty tip racks and lids purchased from E&K Scientific. We ask that there not be any actual tips themselves and that the boxes be free of any paper or autoclave tape

Will you accept other competitors brands?

Other companies sell Pipet tips? Ok... we know... E&K offers a tremendous selection of tips and most likely has a product that will suit your needs at a very competitive price. The process does take time and resources and therefore we prefer you purchase your tips from E&K. If a customer wishes to begin purchasing from E&K, we will recycle racks from other suppliers as the transition to E&K Scientific is made.

Thank you for recycling!
